Pour sa quatrième édition, l'exposition était présentée à Milan et sélectionnée par un jury international, notamment Jonathan Barnbrook * (Royaume-Uni), Alain LeQuerrec (France), le designer et architecte Massimo Vignelli (Etats-Unis) et Leonardo Sonnoli* (Italie)... "Nous devons continuer à mener un travail socialement engagé, nous devons exprimer ce que nous avons sur le cœur, notre désarroi face au monde (...)", affirme l'anglais Jonathan Barnbrook. Cette année, 2357 graphistes, illustrateurs et designers ont envoyé leur affiche depuis 81 pays pour répondre à un briefing rassemblant sept thématiques parmi lesquelles "le droit des immigrés à accéder aux services sanitaires" soutenu par Emergency ; "droits de l'homme et pauvreté" avec Amnesty International ; "la lutte contre la mafia" avec Libera... Good50X70 Socially Conscious and Politically Active Graphic Design

On the initiative of Pascale Volpe in collaboration with Gabriela Morelli, the cultural association Good50X70 is raising public awareness on major social problems in the world with the participation of international graphic designers.

The 4th edition of the exhibition was presented in Milan and selected by an international panel of judges including, namely, Jonathan Barnbrook (UK), Alain LeQuerrec (France), designer and architect Massimo Vignelli (USA), and Leonardo Sonnoli (Italy). "We must continue to be socially active and speak out to let them know how disappointed we are with the world (...)," said Jonathan Barnbrook. This year, 2357 graphic designers, illustrators, and designers from 81 countries sent their posters in response to a brief that addresses seven themes including "The right of the Migrants to healthcare," endorsed by Emergency, "Human Rights and Poverty" endorsed by Amnesty International, "The fight against all mafias," endorsed by Libera... The message is communicated through posters in a 50X70 format that can be used without limitations or restrictions by NGOs taking part in the initiative every year. Indeed, the spirit of Good50x70 transcends the competition to become a lesson in social communication, which inspires designers and institutions. A common altruistic attitude in Italy where creativity – through cinema, graphic design, architecture, literature... – is in the service of political, social, and humanitarian activism. www.good50x70.org
